Title: This is Not a Love Story

Cédric Léonard was born in Brussels and the youngest of an African-born family of eight children, his slight handicap in his left hand forces him to approach life differently. A graduate in Visual Arts, he draws from a very young age.

This passion very early revealed his character as an artist and his training developed his techniques with multiple strata. His art feels it. It is marked by its daily subterfuges and opens the way to its profound originality at the countless side roads. His works are in his image. They discover themselves little by little. As and when their false simplicity.

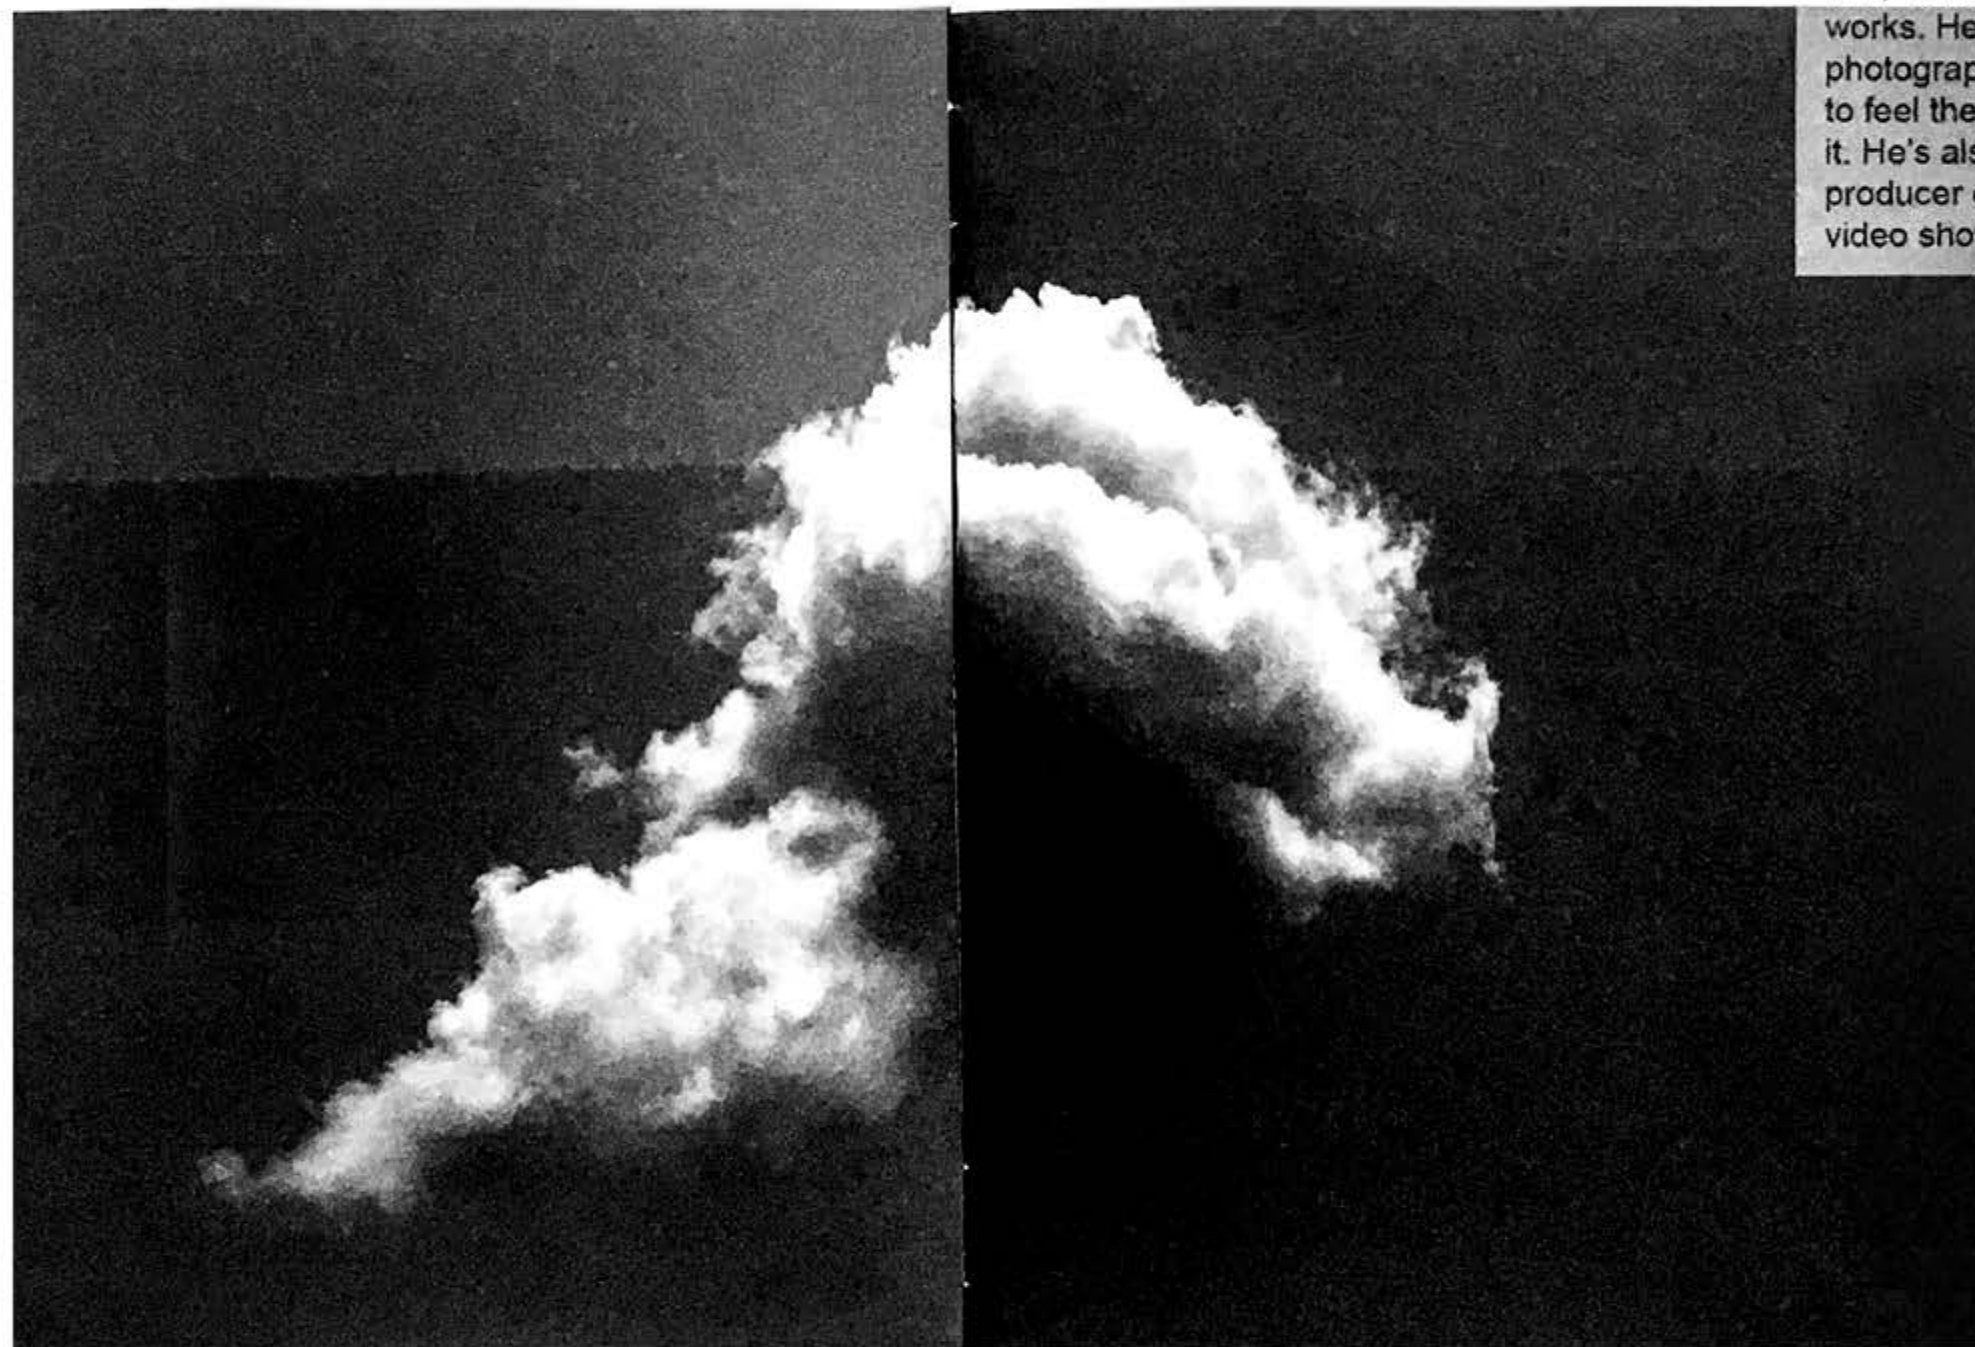

Cédric Léonard, at the same time shy and solar, offers the spectator the extent of his visual, vital and creative obsession. Exhibited in Venice and Brussels, find it currently in Paris at Sonia Monti.

My Linh Mac is a multimedia artist, visual designer and art educator based in Chicago. She is best known for her digital paintings, traditional oil paintings and her series of contemporary 'galactic / no-brush' paintings. As an accomplished painter, her works portray beauty in humble places with her signature style of deep and vibrant accent colors. While Mac's paintings have varied genres, from conceptual, abstract, and figurative to contemporary, her digital and visual design works are commercial.

Zoe Beaudry is an artist from East Lansing, Michigan, specializing in oil painting with an emphasis on the figure. Her practice examines the dissolution of personal identity through disturbance to the boundaries of the self such as bodily changes, spiritual experiences, and online avatars.

This art work, entitled Charging, combines the visual language of the mandala with the addictive appeal of the screen. Using the logic of boxes, layering, windows, and digital effects, concentric rectangles imply nested existences and an interconnected universe, and provokes questions about humanity's connection to technology.

"I am a thirty-five-year-old figurative abstract artist from Medellin, Colombia. I moved my life and practice to Toronto, Canada, to find inspiration for my current chapter of creation. Known for manifesting varied visual representations of freedom, my art is a mixture of thick knife strokes with free-hand illustrations on canvas and recycled surfaces. I collect and portray moods and close-up sections that are in vivid, visceral paint strokes, loose lines, deliberate drips and passionate splatters. All this to the great end of creating the ideal marriage of fine and urban art."

Jennifer Weigel is a multi disciplinary mixed media conceptual artist. Weigel utilizes a wide range of media to convey her ideas, including assemblage, drawing, fibers, installation, jewelry, painting, performance, photography and video. Much of her work touches on themes of beauty, identity (especially gender identity), memory & forgetting, and institutional critique. Weigel's art has been exhibited nationally in all 50 states in the United States and has won numerous awards.

I have always photographed things that catch my eye, especially the more mundane or overlooked those things might be. I am particularly drawn to views of nature, sky & ground and abstracted details of objects found in urban settings.

Joe Karlovec is an artist living and working in West Palm Beach, FL. His work has been exhibited by galleries in South Korea, Italy, Canada, and is represented by galleries in Nashville & Miami. Curiosities around landscape urbanism and modernist architecture inform his work. The tapestries reference both photographic imagery and studio documentation of his own painting practice. The result, is a series of handcut jacquard textiles that appear equally as painterly and sculptural as they do photographic, much like the places that inspire them. He currently works as Production Manager at Farano Fine Art in West Palm Beach, FL.

"This artwork is based on our Mother nature who has continuously surprised us with her beautiful scenarios but in the long run we have also tortured her with our inhuman activities but still she forgives us and blessed us with her marvelous assets. It is high time we stopped being selfish and started to think about how to make this world a better place to live in."

nuno barracas

Nuno Barracas was born in Lisbon in 1979, works in theater, cinema and museums. I consider myself a curious and active person. I like arts, interior design, drawing and furniture. In the process of creating my projects, there is a moment when the idea arises, this occurs through contact with a given material or the connection to an object or fragment. The chance of this encounter to happen is an event, as it acts as a stimulus generating element and triggers a set of new thoughts and reactions.
